Project MKUltra

The name of a mind control program conducted by the CIA that officially ran from 1953 to 1973. Experiments involved drugging unwitting subjects (especially with LSD), electroshocks, hypnosis, sensory deprivation, solitary confinement, verbal abuse, sexual abuse, and other forms of torture. There are several known deaths associated with the project.

Dissociative Identity Disorder (aka Multiple Personality Disorder), the key to trauma-based mind control

Dissociative Identity Disorder is often explained by severe trauma, especially in childhood. The brain creates alternate personalities in order to escape from traumatic episodes, leaving the victim with no memory of them, and the core personality unaware of the existence of the alternate personalities.

"...what the term 'mind control' refers to is the process of first enhancing an unwitting subject's natural ability to dissociate (creating, in essence, the condition of Multiple Personality Disorder), and then controlling that subject's dissociative states (by creating one or more alter personalities that are effectively under the control of others, and that are unknown to the 'core' personality)."

A few cases of elite pedophilia

The Marc Dutroux case

Melchior Wathelet is a Belgian politician who, as Justice Minister, encouraged the early release of sex offenders. One of these was Marc Dutroux, who went on to be convicted in 2004 of the kidnapping, rape, and torture of six young girls, four of whom died. Wathelet was implicated as belonging to a pedophile ring by two separate witnesses, one of whom was Regina Louf. Her entire testimony was dismissed despite her knowledge of facts known only to the police.

Michel Nihoul was a Belgian businessman who was an associate of Marc Dutroux. He was sentenced to five years in prison for drug trafficking and criminal association, but was released after serving a third of his sentence.

"Officials seem to have routinely ignored tips that later proved accurate, including a report from Dutroux's own mother that her son was holding girls prisoner in one of his houses."

Portugal case

In 2002, a pedophile ring in Portugal was exposed after a mother complained of abuse of her son by staff at a Casa Pia house. Among the members of the ring were former UNESCO ambassador Jorge Ritto, popular TV show host Carlos Cruz, and lawyer Hugo Marçal.

Russian and Italian case

An international pedophile network that traded in child pornography, including videos of the murder of children, was uncovered in September 2000. The videos were made in Russia and allegedly generated revenues of over £400 million for their makers.

"The most gruesome, police said, was coded 'Necros Pedo', in which children were raped and tortured to death."

The Presidio case

In 1987, the U.S. Army closed and demolished a child-care center at the Presidio of San Francisco after dozens of children, four of whom contracted chlamydia, were sexually abused there.

Lieutenant Colonel Michael Aquino (who will be discussed next) was implicated in this case as well as others, but was never charged with anything.

Satanism in the military, intelligence community, etc.

Michael Aquino

Aquino was a military intelligence officer specializing in psychological warfare. He joined Anton LaVey's Church of Satan in 1969, quickly becoming a high-ranking member. In 1975, he broke with LaVey and established the Temple of Set, claiming that Satan had revealed his true name to be Set.

The Finders

"The information was specific in describing 'blood rituals' and sexual orgies involving children, and an as yet unsolved murder in which the Finders may be involved ... the investigation into the activity of the FINDERS had become a CIA internal matter ... No further information will be available. No further action will be taken."
